Project management in the railway sector is a challenging task: several internal and external parties are involved in the project, project teams are spread across different countries, time schedules and budgets are always tight, and resources are scarce.

PROSE offers project management services for both simple as well as more complex projects involving several partners in an international, multi-cultural context. All our project managers have thorough training in modern project management, together with a technical background that enables them to efficiently coordinate the different participants. Within the projects, we can fulfil both general and technical project management roles.

Our extensive scope of services enables us to support our customers as project managers in a wide variety of projects ranging from engineering through procurement to homologation. Our project managers can count on the full international PROSE network at any time to provide our customers with broad support.
